

A1 Homestead Hub — 30-Day Facebook Campaign

Platform: Facebook Page (A1 Homestead Hub) Schedule: 1 post per day, recommended 8–10am local time Scheduling Tool: Meta Business Suite (free) — setup instructions at the end of this document

Week 1 — Introduce the Platform (Days 1–7)

Day 1 — The Launch Announcement

Most websites are built to sell you something.

This one was built because I got tired of watching knowledge disappear.

My grandparents knew how to feed a family off their land, preserve food without electricity, and build what they needed with what they had. That knowledge didn't get passed down the way it should have. And I'm not the only one who noticed.

A1 Homestead Hub is what I built about it.

It's a full platform — skills library, homeschool curriculum, barter board, land access map, community directory, and a daily content engine that adds something new every single morning.

It's free to join. It's built to last.

👉 a1homesteadhub.com

#homesteading #selfreliant #homesteadlife #a1homesteadhub #offgridliving

Day 2 — The Skills Hub

Nine skill libraries. Each one written like your most knowledgeable neighbor sat down and told you everything they know.

🔪 Butchering — from harvest to table 🌿 Foraging — wild edibles by season and region 🍯
Building — shelters, barns, fences, outbuildings 📖 Food Preservation — canning, smoking, fermenting, dehydrating 🌱 Gardening — seed saving, soil health, companion planting 🦌
Hunting & Gaming — licensing, field dressing, ethical harvest 🐔 Animal Husbandry — chickens, goats, pigs, cattle 💧 Water Systems — rainwater, wells, filtration, gray water ☀️ Off-Grid Energy — solar, wind, battery banks, backup power

Every skill has step-by-step guides, safety notes, resource lists, and a Tip of the Day that updates automatically.

Free. No login required to read.

👉 a1homesteadhub.com/skills

#skillshub #homesteadskills #offgridliving #selfsufficiency #homesteading

Day 3 — The Schoolhouse

For the moms who are homeschooling and wondering how to make it more than worksheets.

The Schoolhouse at A1 Homestead Hub has:

📖 K–8 STEM curriculum with a homesteading lens 🖋️ 9th–12th AP prep and advanced STEM
🤖 An AI course creator — describe what you want to teach, get a full course in minutes 🎓 Miss Hazel, the AI tutor — answers questions, reads lessons aloud, guides students through the material

Every course has a gradebook, student tracking, and printable lesson packets.

The AI builds new content into existing courses every single day.

👉 a1homesteadhub.com/schoolhouse

#homeschool #homeschoolmom #STEMeducation #homesteadschool #a1homesteadhub

Day 4 — The Barter Board

Before money, there was trade.

You have eggs. Your neighbor has lumber. Somebody down the road has mechanical skills and needs food. This is how communities actually work when they're working right.

The Barter & Trade board on A1 Homestead Hub is a free listing board for:

- Goods (produce, livestock, tools, seeds, crafts)
- Skills (labor, repair, teaching, building)
- Services (hauling, processing, veterinary, childcare)

Post a listing. Browse what's available. Contact directly. No middleman, no fees, no algorithm deciding who sees your post.

👉 a1homesteadhub.com/barter

#bartertrade #homesteadcommunity #tradeskills #selfsufficient #localfirst

Day 5 — The Market Ticker

If you grow it, raise it, or sell it — you need to know what it's worth.

The live market ticker on A1 Homestead Hub tracks:

🌽 Corn · 🌾 Wheat · 🐄 Live Cattle · 🐷 Lean Hogs · 🥛 Class III Milk 🌱 Soybeans · 🌻 Soybean Oil · 🥚 Eggs · ☕ Coffee 📈 DOW · NASDAQ · S&P 500

Updates every morning. Click any commodity to see a 30-day price chart.

Free. No account needed.

👉 a1homesteadhub.com (scroll to the ticker)

#commodityprices #farmmarkets #homesteadeconomics #agribusiness #a1homesteadhub

Day 6 — Land Access Map

One of the biggest barriers to homesteading isn't knowledge. It's land.

Not everyone can buy 40 acres. But there is land out there — leased, shared, stewarded — that isn't being used to its potential.

The Land Access Map on A1 Homestead Hub lets you:

- Post land you're willing to share or lease
- Find land available in your region
- Connect directly with landowners

If you have land and you want someone to work it — or if you want to work land and don't have your own yet — this is where that conversation starts.

👉 a1homesteadhub.com/land-access

#landaccess #homesteadland #farmland #rurallife #a1homesteadhub

Day 7 — Week 1 Recap + Join CTA

One week in. Here's what A1 Homestead Hub has:

✅ 9 deep skill libraries — updated daily ✅ Full homeschool curriculum K–12 with AI tutor ✅
Barter & Trade board — free listings ✅ Live commodity market ticker ✅ Land access map ✅
Community member directory ✅ Daily blog — new post every morning ✅ Community events calendar

It's free to join. It's built to grow. And it's not going anywhere.

This is a legacy project. Built to last longer than any of us.

👉 Join free at a1homesteadhub.com

#homesteading #selfreliant #a1homesteadhub #homesteadlife #joinfree

Week 2 — Education & Value (Days 8–14)

Day 8 — Seed Saving Tip

Before you buy seeds next spring, ask yourself one question:

Did I save any from this year?

Heirloom seeds saved and replanted correctly will outperform commercial seeds in your specific soil and climate within 3–5 generations. They adapt to you.

The Skills Hub at A1 Homestead Hub has a full seed saving guide — what to save, how to dry and store it, how to test germination rates, and which plants cross-pollinate (and why that matters).

Free to read. No account needed.

👉 a1homesteadhub.com/skills/gardening

#seedsaving #heirloomseeds #gardeningtips #homesteadgarden #a1homesteadhub

Day 9 — Food Preservation Question

Quick question for the homesteaders:

What's in your pantry right now that you put up yourself?

Canned tomatoes? Fermented kraut? Smoked venison? Dehydrated herbs?

Drop it in the comments. I want to see what people are actually doing.

(And if you're just getting started with preservation — the Food Preservation skill library at A1 Homestead Hub covers water bath canning, pressure canning, fermenting, smoking, dehydrating, and root cellaring. All free.)

👉 a1homesteadhub.com/skills/food-preservation

#foodpreservation #canning #fermentation #homesteadpantry #a1homesteadhub

Day 10 — Homeschool Feature Deep Dive

Miss Hazel is the AI tutor inside the A1 Homestead Hub Schoolhouse.

She doesn't just answer questions. She:

- Reads lessons aloud (Pro feature)
- Adjusts her explanations based on grade level
- Stays focused on the course material — no rabbit holes

- Guides students through assignments step by step

For homeschool moms who are teaching multiple grades at once, having an AI that can sit with one child while you work with another is not a luxury. It's a practical tool.

The Schoolhouse is free to explore. Pro features (including Miss Hazel's voice) unlock with a Schoolhouse Pro subscription.

👉 a1homesteadhub.com/schoolhouse

#homeschoolmom #Altutor #homeschooling #STEMhomeschool #a1homesteadhub

Day 11 — Foraging Safety Note

Foraging is one of the most valuable skills you can develop. It's also one of the most misunderstood.

The rule is simple: if you are not 100% certain of the identification, you do not eat it. Not 90%. Not 95%. One hundred.

The Foraging library at A1 Homestead Hub covers identification by season and region, look-alikes to avoid, ethical harvesting practices, and how to build your identification skills over time — starting with the easiest and most distinctive plants before moving to anything with dangerous look-alikes.

Knowledge before harvest. Always.

👉 a1homesteadhub.com/skills/foraging

#foraging #wildedibles #foragingskills #homesteadlife #a1homesteadhub

Day 12 — Community Directory

The homesteading community is bigger than most people realize.

There are people within driving distance of you right now who are raising chickens, growing heirloom vegetables, processing their own meat, and building their own structures. Most of them you've never met.

The Community Directory at A1 Homestead Hub is where that changes.

Create a profile. Search by location, skills, or interests. Connect directly.

This is how local homestead networks actually get built — not through algorithms, but through people finding each other.

👉 a1homesteadhub.com/community

#homesteadcommunity #localfarmers #ruralcommunity #homesteaders #a1homesteadhub

Day 13 — Events Calendar

Coming up in your region:

 Scott County Fair — June 21–27, Scottsburg, IN  Demo Derby (Top Dog Promotions) — June 26–27, Scott County Fairgrounds, KS  4th of July Celebration — July 4, Scott City Park, KS (250th USA Anniversary)  Twin Rivers Campground 4th of July — July 4–5  Iona Fun Day — July 11, Iona, MN  Dazzling Events Craft Show — Aug 13–15, Wayne County Fairgrounds, MI

All of these are posted on the Community Events calendar at A1 Homestead Hub. Events automatically come down after they pass — no stale listings.

 a1homesteadhub.com/events

#communityevents #countyfair #homesteadevents #rurallife #a1homesteadhub

Day 14 — Two Weeks In — What Are You Working On?

Two weeks of posting. Time to hear from you.

What are you working on right now on your homestead or in your home?

Starting a garden? Building something? Preserving? Learning a new skill? Teaching your kids?

Drop it in the comments. This community is only as strong as the people in it — and I want to know who's here.

 a1homesteadhub.com

#homesteadlife #homesteading #selfreliant #a1homesteadhub #community

Week 3 — Partnership & Growth (Days 15–21)

Day 15 — Partner Announcement

We are looking for aligned partners.

Not advertisers who want to blast their product at an audience. Partners who believe in what this community is building.

Specifically: seed suppliers, homestead product brands, natural food companies, and rural lifestyle businesses who want to be part of something that's growing every day — literally, because the content engine adds new material to this site automatically, every morning.

The first 10 partners who come in get founding rates that will never increase as the audience grows.

If that's you — or if you know someone it might be — the application is at:

👉 a1homesteadhub.com/partners

#homesteadpartners #seedsuppliers #ruralbrands #a1homesteadhub #partnerships

Day 16 — What Is a Campaign?

Most people think “campaign” means politics.

It doesn't. It never did.

A campaign is a coordinated, time-bound deployment of resources toward a single objective. The military used it first. Commerce borrowed it. Politics borrowed it from commerce.

Every seed company that runs an ad is running a campaign. Every farmers market vendor who posts on Facebook is running a campaign. Every homesteader who shares what they're growing is running a campaign — for a way of life.

A1 Homestead Hub is a campaign. For self-reliant living. For generational knowledge. For communities that can feed themselves.

If your brand is running the same campaign — let's talk.

👉 a1homesteadhub.com/partners

#brandpartnerships #homesteadmarketing #a1homesteadhub #campaign #rurallife

Day 17 — Schoolhouse Pro Feature

For the homeschool families who want more:

Schoolhouse Pro at A1 Homestead Hub unlocks:

🗣️ Miss Hazel voice read-aloud — lessons read aloud by AI 🔒 Unlimited course creation — build as many courses as you need 📊 Full gradebook — track every student's progress 🖨️ Print packets — print-ready lesson pages for offline use 🧠 Advanced AI tutor — deeper explanations, more patient guidance

Monthly or annual subscription. Cancel anytime.

The free tier is genuinely useful. Pro is for families who are serious about building a full curriculum.

👉 a1homesteadhub.com/schoolhouse/pro

#homeschoolpro #homeschooling #STEMcurriculum #a1homesteadhub #homeschoolmom

Day 18 — Water Systems Tip

If your water supply depends entirely on a utility company, you are one infrastructure failure away from a serious problem.

That's not fear — that's math.

The Water Systems library at A1 Homestead Hub covers:

- Rainwater collection systems (legal in most states now)
- Well drilling and hand pump installation
- Gravity-fed filtration systems
- Gray water management and reuse
- Emergency water storage calculations for your household size

Free to read. No account needed.

👉 a1homesteadhub.com/skills/water-systems

#watersystems #offgridwater #rainwaterharvesting #homesteadprep #a1homesteadhub

Day 19 — Animal Husbandry — Start Small

You don't need 40 acres to start raising animals.

Six chickens in a backyard coop will give a family of four more eggs than they can eat. Two Nigerian Dwarf goats on a quarter acre will provide milk, cheese, and butter. A pair of meat rabbits in a hutch will produce more protein per square foot than almost any other livestock.

The Animal Husbandry library at A1 Homestead Hub covers all of it — care, feeding, breeding, health management, and sustainable production — for chickens, goats, pigs, cattle, and rabbits.

Start where you are. Scale from there.

👉 a1homesteadhub.com/skills/animal-husbandry

#backyard chickens #goats #animalhusbandry #homesteadanimals #a1homesteadhub

Day 20 — The Daily Blog

Every morning, a new homesteading post goes live on A1 Homestead Hub.

Not recycled content. Not repurposed listicles. Full articles — 800 to 1,200 words — on practical homesteading topics:

🌱 Heirloom seed saving 🐔 Raising backyard chickens 🫙 Water bath vs. pressure canning 🌿
Foraging wild edibles by season 💧 Off-grid water systems 🐛 Natural pest control 🌾 Soil health and composting 🍷 Root cellar construction 🐐 Raising goats for milk and meat

New post every morning. The archive grows every day.

👉 a1homesteadhub.com/blog

#homesteadblog #homesteading #selfsufficiency #a1homesteadhub #dailycontent

Day 21 — Three Weeks In — Share This

Three weeks of building this community in public.

If anything I've posted has been useful to you — the skills library, the events calendar, the homeschool curriculum, the market ticker — share this post with one person who would appreciate it.

Not for the algorithm. For the person.

That's how this community grows. One real connection at a time.

👉 a1homesteadhub.com

#homesteading #shareworthy #a1homesteadhub #community #selfreliant

Week 4 — Depth & Legacy (Days 22–30)

Day 22 — Building Skills

There is a difference between a structure built to code and a structure built to last.

The Building library at A1 Homestead Hub covers both — and explains where they diverge and why.

Topics include:

🪵 Post-frame barn construction 🏠 Timber framing basics 🧱 Concrete and masonry fundamentals 🛠️ Tool selection and maintenance 🔩 Fastener science (why the right screw matters more than you think) 🥬 Temporary shelter construction for emergencies

If you're planning to build anything on your property — read this first.

👉 a1homesteadhub.com/skills/building

#buildingskills #barnbuilding #timberframe #homesteadbuilding #a1homesteadhub

Day 23 — Off-Grid Energy

The grid is a convenience, not a guarantee.

The Off-Grid Energy library at A1 Homestead Hub covers what you actually need to know to reduce or eliminate your dependence on it:

☀️ Solar panel sizing for your actual load 🪫 Battery bank selection and maintenance 🌀 Small wind turbine installation ⚡ Inverter selection and wiring safety 🔌 Hybrid systems — grid-tied with battery backup 🕯️ Low-tech backup — kerosene, propane, wood

You don't have to go fully off-grid to benefit from this knowledge. Even a partial system changes your resilience posture significantly.

👉 a1homesteadhub.com/skills/off-grid-energy

#offgridenergy #solarpanel #energyindependence #homesteadpower #a1homesteadhub

Day 24 — Hunting & Gaming

Hunting is not a hobby. It is a food system.

A single white-tailed deer, processed correctly, provides 50–80 pounds of lean protein. One hog provides 120–180 pounds. These are not supplemental calories — they are the foundation of a real food supply.

The Hunting & Gaming library at A1 Homestead Hub covers:

🦌 State-by-state licensing and season dates 🎯 Ethical shot placement by species 🔪 Field dressing — step by step ❄️ Aging, butchering, and storage 🎣 Fishing regulations and preservation Knowledge before the field. Always.

👉 a1homesteadhub.com/skills/hunting-gaming

#hunting #huntinglife #fieldtofork #homesteadhunting #a1homesteadhub

Day 25 — For the Grandmothers

This one is for the grandmothers.

The ones who knew how to put up 200 jars of food before winter. Who could identify 40 wild plants by sight. Who kept a household running through things that would shut most people down today.

A lot of that knowledge walked out the door when they did.

A1 Homestead Hub is an attempt to write it back down. To make it searchable, teachable, and transmissible to people who never had the chance to learn it in person.

If you have knowledge that belongs here — skills, recipes, techniques, regional wisdom — we want to hear from you.

This is a legacy project. It belongs to all of us.

👉 a1homesteadhub.com

#homesteadlegacy #generationalknowledge #a1homesteadhub #homesteading #preservation

Day 26 — Media Kit

For the brands and businesses watching this page:

A1 Homestead Hub has a full media kit available at:

👉 a1homesteadhub.com/media-kit

It covers:

- Audience profile (who they are, what they buy, why they trust this platform)
- Content categories (9 skill areas, daily blog, homeschool curriculum, events)
- Ad formats (sponsored posts, skill guide sections, course sponsorship, affiliate)
- Brand standards and tone of voice

The founding partner window is still open. First 10 partners lock in rates that don't increase as the audience grows.

Application at: a1homesteadhub.com/partners

#mediakit #brandpartnership #homesteadadvertising #a1homesteadhub #ruralmarketing

Day 27 — Composting 101

The most important thing you can add to your soil costs nothing and takes 10 minutes a week to manage.

Compost.

Kitchen scraps, yard waste, cardboard, wood ash, coffee grounds, eggshells — all of it becomes the most nutrient-dense soil amendment available, for free, in your backyard.

The Gardening library at A1 Homestead Hub covers:

- Hot composting vs. cold composting (and when each is right)
- Carbon-to-nitrogen ratios in plain language
- Troubleshooting — why your pile isn't heating up
- Worm composting for small spaces
- Using compost tea as a liquid fertilizer

👉 a1homesteadhub.com/skills/gardening

#composting #soilhealth #gardeningtips #homesteadgarden #a1homesteadhub

Day 28 — The Barter Board Is Open

The Barter & Trade board at A1 Homestead Hub is open and free.

If you have something to offer — goods, skills, or services — post a listing. If you're looking for something, browse what's there.

This is not eBay. There are no fees, no algorithms, no promoted listings. It's a community board for people who believe in direct exchange.

What do you have to trade?

👉 a1homesteadhub.com/barter

#bartertrade #homesteadtrade #tradeskills #community #a1homesteadhub

Day 29 — Why This Site Is Different

There are a lot of homesteading websites.

Most of them are blogs with affiliate links. Some are YouTube channels. A few are forums that haven't been updated since 2019.

A1 Homestead Hub is a platform — meaning it has multiple interconnected systems that work together:

- Content that updates itself daily
- A curriculum that grows automatically
- A community that connects people directly
- A marketplace for trade
- A map for land access
- A live data feed for market prices

It was built to be a living system, not a static resource. Every day it has more in it than the day before.

That's the difference.

👉 a1homesteadhub.com

#homesteadplatform #a1homesteadhub #selfreliant #homesteading #livingsite

Day 30 — 30 Days. What's Next.

Thirty days of showing up every day.

Here's what I know after 30 days of building this in public:

The people who need this platform are out there. They're looking for exactly what's here — practical skills, community, curriculum, and a place that takes self-reliant living seriously.

What's next:

✉ Email newsletter — weekly digest of new content 🤝 First partner announcements — seed suppliers and homestead brands coming on board 📱 Mobile app — in planning 🌍 Expanded land access listings — more regions 📖 New Schoolhouse courses — added automatically every week

This is month one. We're just getting started.

👉 Join free at a1homesteadhub.com

#homesteading #a1homesteadhub #month1 #selfreliant #community #legacy

Scheduling Instructions — Meta Business Suite (Free)

Meta Business Suite is Facebook's own free scheduling tool. It works for both Facebook and Instagram simultaneously.

Step 1 — Access Meta Business Suite

Go to business.facebook.com and log in with the same account that manages your A1 Homestead Hub Facebook page. If prompted, select your page from the dropdown.

Step 2 — Open the Planner

In the left sidebar, click Planner. This shows a calendar view of all your scheduled and published posts.

Step 3 — Create a Scheduled Post

Click the blue Create Post button in the top right. A composer window will open.

- Select your Facebook Page (A1 Homestead Hub) as the destination
- Paste the post text from this document
- Add an image if desired (the site's hero image or any homesteading photo works well)
- Click the dropdown arrow next to the blue Publish button
- Select Schedule
- Choose your date and time (recommended: 8–10am your local time)

- Click Schedule

Step 4 — Repeat for All 30 Posts

Work through this document from Day 1 to Day 30, scheduling each post one day apart. The entire process for all 30 posts takes approximately 45–60 minutes if done in one sitting.

Step 5 — Monitor Engagement

After each post goes live, check back within 24 hours to respond to any comments. Facebook's algorithm rewards pages that respond to comments quickly — even a simple “Thank you!” or a follow-up question keeps the post circulating.

Pro Tip: Pin Day 1 (the launch announcement) to the top of your page immediately after it posts. Pinned posts stay at the top of your page profile and are the first thing any visitor sees.

Document prepared by Manus AI for A1 Homestead Hub — June 2026